

School Life

Student Government

All non-academic activities are handled by the school's extremely active student government. Headed by the President and Vice President, it includes a student council which supervises the daily routine, a student court which handles disciplinary matters, and a large number of student committees which carry out the activities themselves.

All grades are represented on the council and a balance of boys and girls maintained. The same is true of the court, which meets to decide on students who need help or disciplinary action. A faculty member is an elected member of this court, and Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Bondy sit in at all meetings. The court has the power to set down penalties or even expel, with the concurrence of the directors. Committee members take on a variety of duties. They supervise

Nature lovers discover tadpoles in a rushing stream on the school grounds

